History

The park was formed on land set aside for public use by Governor Bannerman in 1864. Bannerman Park remains a well-used and attractive park. It is a good example of nineteenth century public park design, reflecting the British parks of that time.

In 2010, the Bannerman Park Foundation was formed to implement the Bannerman Park Master Plan. The City and the Foundation celebrated the completion of this effort at a grand re-opening in 2015.
